V.A. – The Day It All Made Sense (The Equinox 10inch Series)

The Equinox 10inch Series was released between winter 2005 and summer 2006. Each of the four parts of the vinyl series was limited to 500 handnumbered copies, including a lovely and exceptional cover artwork and inlay. Now, for the first time, ten tracks of the series are pieced together to form a compilation, on which each artist presents his unique vision of sound:

DiViNCi (the MPC virtuoso of the Sol.illaquists Of Sound) is featured with the incredible "PUSH Beat" and the concluding "Calm Persuasion"; Deckard from Munich presents 3 beautifully arranged down-beat compositions of his "Noir Desire EP". Then, comprised of frozen synths and hard hitting drums, Arcsin from New York is offering 3 tracks of his "Uprock Citizen EP"; and last but not least DJ Scientist, the owner of Equinox Records himself, completes the album with two of his impressing sound and beat collages: "Atarius" and the melancholic "Autumn Leaves".

This compilation will only be available digitally – for a limited time of 1 year (ending May 2008) – so you better be quick!
